[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JULY 2.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, June 30.

In the Senate, Pomeroy introduced a bill authorizing the Alabama, Chattanooga, Petersburg, Meridian, North Louisiana and Texas railroads to consolidate for the purpose of forming a junction with the Texas Pacific railroad at Marshall, and granting to said roads twenty sections of land per mile.

The Senate in Executive session rejected the San Domingo treaty by a vote of 28 to 28, two thirds being required for ratification.

The tax bill was resumed. The duty on steel railway bars was reduced from 1¾ to 1½ cents per pound, by a vote of 31 to 21. Rate on all railway bars in part of steel reduced to 1 cent. Certain other amendments were rejected and the Senate took a recess.

At the evening session the Conference Committee's report on the bill to amend the act granting the right of way to ditch and canal owners over public lands was concurred in. The duty on oats was reduced to 5 cents per bushel.

In the House, Axtell opposed the amendment increasing the appropriation for incidental expenses of the Indian service in California from $7,500,000 to $10,000,000, as it was intended for the removal of the peaceful, industrious and civilized Mission Indians, who are citizens and voters, to reservations in San Diego. He represented the movement to be a speculative one to secure the farms of these Indians. The amendment was non-concurred in.

Butler, of Tennessee, from the Committee on Elections, reported in the Kentucky election case that Rice, the sitting member, was disqualified under the Fourteenth Amendment and that the Governor be notified thereof.

The funding bill was considered. Various amendments were offered and rejected, including one for payment of interest in foreign countries, when the Secretary of the Navy deems advisable. Another to strike out the exemption of bonds from taxation. Another making bonds and coupons payable in lawful money instead of coin. Another, prohibiting the employment of agents, and another prohibiting the payment of any commissions or brokerage.

WASHINGTON, July, 1.—The Senate tax bill came up in Committee an amendment to tax interest on U. S. bonds was defeated 12 to 36. Amendment to tax incomes derived from bonds, rejected 10 to 35. Amendment for three per cent taxation of incomes derived from invested capital rejected. A bill was reported from Committee to the Senate, when Amendments were generally concurred in. An attempt by Wilson to renew the income tax for two years at 2½ per cent, was defeated 23 to 28 as was one by Drake to renew it at 5 per cent. by 13 to 35. The action of the committee striking out the tax was concurred in, 26 to 21. The tax on salaries and dividends for 1870 was made to cease August 1st. A motion by Sherman to impose a revenue tax on gross receipts was rejected by a tie vote.

In the House, the Senate bill to grant the right of way to the Alameda road through the public lands in California was taken from the Speaker's table, and, on motion of Sargeant, passed. The consideration of the funding bill was resumed. During the discussion, Schenck announced that satisfactory assurance had been given that all bonds under the bill will be taken during the next year at par at 4 per cent., and he would consequently accuse the Committee of Ways and Means of deception, imposition and gross impropriety in attempting to pass off on the House and country such information. The bill passed, yeas 121, nays 49, and was then adopted as a substitute for the Senate bill.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—In the Senate, to night, the vote on striking out the income tax, was reconsidered, and Wilson's amendment, continuing it till the end of 1872 at the rate of 2½ per cent. adopted. The Senate classification of duty on cigars was also restored. The public debt statement shows a reduction during June of $20,203,773. The coin balance is $113,760,048, including $61,547,120 in coin certificates; currency, $28,945,057. The President has nominated Felix A. Matthews, of California, Consul to Tangier; Edward Johnson, of South Carolina, Consul to Talcahuano; Moses Grinnell, Naval officer of New York; Thos. Murphy, Collector of Customs for New York. The President has signed the acts to regulate the foreign and coasting trade and to prevent the extermination of fur-bearing animals in Alaska. The amount of interest falling due on bonds held as sinking and special fund, amounting to $2,350,000 coin is to be sold and used to purchase more bonds.

The House Judiciary Committee have agreed to a general bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue duplicates for all lost bonds, on full proof of loss, and indemnity against all future claims.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—It is said that the rejection of the San Domingo treaty don't dispose of the protocol for release of the Samana project, for the annexation of Dominica by joint resolution don't seem to be regarded with a sufficient favor to secure a majority of either House.

The President has signed the act giving priority to certain revenue cases, to which a State is a party in the Courts of the United States.

The receipts of internal revenue for the fiscal year are $183,792,374. Customs receipts last week were $1,661,053.

The Committee of Ways and Means will probably report to-morrow a bill for the collection of taxes on whiskey and tobacco.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Gen. Butler is preparing a speech on the labor question. In regard to Chinese, he will take the position that while they have a right to come here, no contracts by which gangs of them are imported, should be allowed.

Gen. Sherman has received a report from Gen. Sheridan, giving an account of his recent trip through the Indian country. He says that the military posts are very weak, poorly garrisoned and not strong enough to quell an Indian war.

The Tribune's Washington special says that the contract under the Alaska fur seal bill, will undoubtedly be given to the Alaska Commercial Company, consisting of ten California and four Connecticut gentlemen, with John F. Miller, former Collector of the Port of San Francisco, as President.

The Senate proposal for an expedition to the North Pole is concurred in, with a reduction of one half, so the amount appropriated, is but $50,000. A report will probably be made from the committee to-morrow.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Washington special gives the vote, in executive session of the Senate, on the San Domingo treaty. Cole voted for the ratification, Casserly against. An analysis of the vote politically, shows that if all the Democrats had refrained from voting, the treaty would still have been rejected.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Ex-Collector Bailey has been indicted for embezzlement. The Committees of Finance and Ways and Means have determined to leave the tax on whisky in its present form.

Financial Statements.

WASHINGTON, July 1. The total receipts from internal revenue for the fiscal year ending yesterday are within a fraction of 185 millions. Total receipts from customs are estimated at 170 millions and from public lands and all other sources about twenty millions. This will make an income for the government of nearly four hundred millions. The sinking fund up to yesterday inclusive, shows $37,655,191 62, the special sinking fund $86,547,776 91, or a total of $125,202,967 54, to be deducted from the national debt. The reduction of the debt for the past month will reach nearly fifteen millions.

New York News.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The statement to-day about the fire at Jersey City is incorrect. The fire broke out in the cooper shop of B. McMahon, destroying the car factory of Cummings & Co., the boiler shop of H. Leslie, and the building owned by the Atlantic and Great Western Co., formerly used as a car shop. The total loss was $50,000. Two of the incendiaries were arrested.

The distillery of C. Carlson & Co., Washington street, New York, of Oscar King, Williamsburg, rectifying house of Cuthbert Pennington, and R. Kindeer, also of Williamsburg, were seized for defrauding the Government. King's distillery contained $150,000 worth of whisky.

Destructive Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, July 1.—About 12.45 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in Dubecbe and Kindlings' wood factory which spread so rapidly that at 1:30 o'clock A. M. nearly all that region embraced between Railroad and Eighth street, including the lumber yards of Noble & Meigs, Derby, Snow & Prentiss and others together with the planing mill, bolt factory, machine shops, etc., on Green, Washington and other streets, were in a sheet of flames. The fire is still spreading and it is believed the loss will not be far short of one million. The same district was burned over about three years ago. Immense quantities of lumber has been destroyed. Fears are entertained that the shipping may catch fire.

Weather and Crops.

CHICAGO, July 1.—The rain storm to-night seems to have extended over a large section of country west and south, and undoubtedly is of vast benefit to the crops.

A dispatch from Rochester, Minnesota, gives gloomy account of crops in that State and says it is no exaggeration to state that never has there been a worse prospect since the first sod was broke. The hot weather and a lack of rain or dew have scorched the wheat like a flame of fire.

The Times' New York special says the anti-Chinese labor meeting in Tompkins Square last evening was a miserable failure. The trades unions were unrepresented.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—It is now asserted that the person taken for Prince Pierre Bonaparte is a wealthy Italian nobleman, closely resembling him, who is traveling incog, going round the world via Japan and China. This resemblance to Bonaparte and the fact of his having a letter of credit for $300,000 is said to have led to the mistake. On the other hand parties who profess to know offer to bet money that it is the Prince and no mistake.

As the North German bark Sera was crossing the bar coming in she collided with the pilot boat Geo. Peabody, and was damaged to the extent of $1,500.

P. Jahren of this city died on board of the steamer Constitution on her last trip down to Panama.

It is ascertained beyond doubt that the man found in a dying condition from a blow on the head, was Francis Connor, second mate of the ship Jennie Eastman, who had drawn $80 and gone on a spree the night previous. No money was found on his person. He was probably murdered, robbed and thrown into the street. He was thirty-two years old, a native of Chester, Nova Scotia. On the day of his being found dead a letter arrived here notifying him of the death of his father and requesting him to return home and settle up the estate.

NAPOLEON "BUYING OUT" ENGLAND IN AFRICA. The London Spectator of June 4th publishes the following:

"An English Colonist" writes to the London News to say that Lord Granville has sold a British colony, Gambia, to the French government without consulting Parliament. The statement is, of course, utterly incredible, as the Home Secretary might just as well sell the Orkneys, but is very minute. The writer says that about the 1st of May the Minister of the Interior of Senegal arrived in Gambia, and informed the people that they had been sold for some territory near Sierra Leone, a statement confirmed by the Governor in Chief, Sir Arthur Kennedy. The people are wild at their prospects and ready to submit to any taxation rather than be surrendered to France. As the trade is worth some half a million a year, perhaps some mercantile member of Parliament will ask Mr. Monsell how the story came to be invented, and whether the office considers the British colonies its private property.

Some of the clerical critics of Charles Dickens appear to be doing their best, since his death, to justify the unflattering pen that sketched Chadband and Stiggins and Mawworm. Rev. James B. Dunn, of Boston, has preached a sermon, whose bad taste is only equaled by its gross display of ignorance. That bugbear of the clerical mind, Tom Paine, is exhumed in order to introduce a nonsensical story about his bones mildewing in the English Customhouse, too poor to pay the duty on their transport from America, and in order to institute some analogy between the two writers. The preacher seems to gloat over the thought of the great novelist being suddenly struck down at the fashionable dinner table, "with no word of hope or trust in the dying moments." And a man who can talk like this laments the absence in the works of Dickens of "the spirit of Christ" and "the fragrance of the Gospel."

Porter C. Bliss, late of the American Legation in Paraguay, is in Boston, giving "conversations" about his captivity, sufferings and escape in the land of Lopez.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—A new Committee of Conference has been ordered on the post office appropriation bill.

In the House, the following bills were passed: forbidding the conveyance of Indian reservations by treaty to any other grantee than the United States; protecting settlers on United States lands under the benefits of pre-emption or homestead laws; preventing further sale of public lands in Dakota, Nevada, Nebraska, California, Kansas, Arkansas and Utah, excepting under pre-emption and homestead laws, and forfeiting to the United States the lands of the Opelousas Railroad.

Mr. Julian reported a bill to confirm James Hutchings and James C. Lemon's pre-emption claim in Yosemite valley, passed. The bill created much discussion.

The Louisiana contested case, Darrell against Bailey, was decided in favor of Darrell; but a motion to reconsider was entered to be considered next Wednesday.

Ferriss reported from the Conference Committee the bill granting the right of way to ditch and canal owners.

Naval Matters.

New Discovery of Silver in New Mexico.

SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO, July 2.—A letter to the Post from Grant county new silver mines says they are 5,000 feet above the level of the sea. There is a population at Ralston the new village of 200. It is about 25 miles from the nearest river. Two hundred and eighty-five ledges have been discovered, and over 50 claims, not being made in conformity with the Territorial laws, are being thrown out, but are re-located about as fast as they are open. A municipal government has been formed and a Recorder elected. There is no doubt of the immense wealth of many of the claims. A canal and railway company with a capital of $1,000,000 has been formed to take the ore to the mills at the river, and to carry water in the canals to the mines. The miners are in the heart of the Apache Indian country, and the settlement will be great security to the Pioneer settlers and travelers.

New and very rich silver mines have been discovered 8 miles from Fort Bayard. Delightful showers of rain have fallen at intervals during the past two weeks, and the crops at one time regarded as almost a failure now give promise of a full average yield. Active preparations for the celebration of the Fourth of July are being made. The demonstration will surpass any other made here.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Judge McKinstry charged the jury in the Nouval case at length, and occupied two hours. At the close of Byrne's remarks last night, the jury went out at twenty minutes past ten o'clock and returned six minutes later with a verdict of not guilty, and Nouval was discharged. The result had been generally anticipated by the public, who had watched the progress of the trial.

The Odd Fellows' picnic, held a week ago, netted $1,935 after all expenses were paid. This sum will be placed to the credit of the library fund.

The weather moderated greatly last night and is now just comfortable.

F. Alexander, an expressman, while conveying a load of heavy iron castings along Market street, near the corner of Battery, yesterday, was thrown from his seat, and one of the castings falling from the wagon, as he layed upon the ground, crushed his skull. He was taken to the county hospital, where he soon expired.

There were 67 deaths in the city last week—40 males and 27 females, being five less than the preceding week, and ten less than the corresponding week of the previous year.

At the sale of valuable horses yesterday, on account of Mr. Eugene McCarthy, about to leave the State, "Westfield" brought $2,950, a roan roadster $750 and a "Fisher" colt $300.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—This afternoon a collision occurred on Montgomery street between ex-Mayor McCoppin and Col. John Hayes of San Mateo, in which blows were exchanged and some blood drawn before the parties could be separated by their friends. Hayes struck first, when McCoppin grappled with him, put his head in chancery, and was punching him in a lively manner when they were parted. The fight grew out of a misunderstanding for which neither was personally to blame.

Gen. Caseman writes that Gen. Allen was invited to participate in the parade, and would have accepted but for the illness of his family.

Billy Mayo was the winning horse in the race to day.

The argument in the Nouval case on both sides has been remarkable for ability and bitterness. Byrne's closing address has seldom if ever been equalled on the Pacific coast. In spite of the great heat the court room was crowded to suffocation.

Immense arches are being erected along Montgomery street, and other preparations for the celebration on a grand scale are being made. A great number of strangers are already in the city.

The California Theatre has been rented for a short engagement. Miss Lou Hudson will appear as Mazeppa, a character in which she "outstrips" all competitors.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—This afternoon A. D. Walch, painter, while riding in a buggy with his wife, at Oakland, was thrown out head foremost, striking with such violence as to break his neck, causing instant death. His remains were brought back here this evening.

The city is already engaged in celebrating the 4th with much spirit, the report of exploding fireworks being incessant. Magnificent decorations are being put up all along the route of to-morrow's procession. The citizens' headquarters and military department on California and Kearney streets, is decorated with flags in festoons, covering the entire front of the building from the side walk to the battlements.

The steamer Ajax, with Australian passengers and mail, due yesterday, has not yet arrived.

The son of Capt. Lees, of the detective police, had his hand badly shattered by the explosion of a double-header, which he was lighting. It is feared that amputation will be necessary.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

JACKSONVILLE, July 3.—The body of a man named Wm. Shipton was found on June 29th in a field near Crescent City. It is supposed that he has been murdered, but as yet there is no clue to the perpetrators of the crime. The weather here is intensely hot and grain is fast ripening. The crop is unusually heavy.

It is related that Spotted Tail remarked to his interpreter during the recent collation at Washington that the white men had a great many more good things to eat and drink than they usually sent out to the Indians. The interpreter replied that it was because he had quit the war path and gone to farming. "How," exclaimed the chief, "I will quit the war path and go to farming, if you will always treat me like this, and let me live in as big a house."

The Daily Oregonian

MONDAY MORNING JULY 4 1870

The National Anniversary

As with [illegible] the glory of some of [illegible] holidays [illegible] with which [illegible] were wont to [illegible] but the Fourth of July which has had no new historical significance added to it for nearly a century still holds its first place in the calendar and still maintains its [illegible] interest for the whole people [illegible] rousing and [illegible]

Often in the course of three generations an effort has been made to [illegible] the popular enthusiasm which it always awakens with the transitory interest felt in the questions of the day and thus give it a [illegible] kind of commemoration But these efforts have generally met with poor success During the late great war there was more reason and more success in them Then the commemoration of the Fourth of July could properly have some reference to the issues of the hour But in general these issues mix with the national anniversary but poorly Scarcely has there been a great agitation from the dawn of Federalism to the close of the anti-slavery warfare absorbing the interest of an impressible and enthusiastic people to which its special advocates have not insisted that the Fourth of July and all its traditions were pledged Only yesterday we read in a neighboring journal that this day was specially pledged to the sacred rights of State Sovereignty as advocated some time since by the Democratic party though that same doctrine of State Sovereignty became an obsolete thing in our politics more than five years ago by the surrender at Appomattox Some carriers of coals to Newcastle have patronized the day by selecting it for their pet anniversaries, and leading men orators reformers and wise ones of every name have kindly added to it the special tribute of their fame But the old fashioned interest in the day remains unchanged, and still the day is celebrated in much the same way as fifty years ago Nevertheless the tendency in these times seems to be to celebrate in a manner only moderately explosive and as consistently as possible with rational enjoyment so as to avoid the exhaustion, prostration and collapse that have often followed at the close of a "glorious time" on the close of the glorious day

But, as heretofore the eagle will do some lofty soaring to-day There will be banners and processions and deep-mouthed cannon, the usual popping of soda bottles and fire crackers, and eloquence will plume itself for no common or middle flight Everybody will see and hear what everybody has seen and heard before and after it is all over we shall be prepared to sit down and wait for the dawn of the next anniversary of independence day

An Important Question.

There are some phases of recent railroad developments and operations that are not very well understood By the purchase of the west side road Mr Holladay has obtained full control of the railroads of the Wallamet valley. There can be no competition with him in this most important field of operations To control the railroad system of a section of country at once so rich and extensive, would give any man great power And when to this is added the lines of ships which Mr. Holladay controls, it will be perceived at once how extensive are the ramifications of the enterprise of which Portland is to be the center. But will Mr. Holladay controlling both the east and west sides, extend a railroad further than the head of the Wallamet valley? It looks as if this might be doubtful It is even whispered here, and with some appearance of plausibility, that, having now secured undisputed control of the railroad system of the most populous and important part of Oregon, and placed himself in a position where he has absolutely nothing to fear from competition for the trade and business of the most considerable and valuable portion of the State, he will not build a railroad further south than Eugene City, or the head of the valley In short, that he will confine his operations to a section of country which will yield a sure return for his outlay of money and not try the more doubtful project, at least for the present of extending a road through a section more difficult of access and less likely to yield an immediate return on the large investment that would be required to build the road through it. This may become a matter of the utmost concern to Oregon, and especially to the southern counties. That part of the State ought to have a road and it ought to be built without delay Many people here have heard with no little concern this rumor that the road is not to be pushed beyond the head of Wallamet valley We hope that it will be otherwise, and that the assurance will be given that the road will speedily be extended to the southern boundary of the State At present the population is sparse and business limited, but a railroad will add immensely and at once, to both No doubt indications will soon show what Mr Holladay is going to do

We are informed by an organ of the Portland capitalists (so-called) who did [illegible] hold the west side road that the sale to Mr Holladay was for the consideration of $70 000 but that the amounts subscribed to the road by outside parties "will not be reimbursed" The $70 000, we suppose will be divided among the capitalists (so-called) who should not be suffered to lose anything by the grand effort they have made to protect the interests of Portland The capitalists (so called) will also probably go on and collect the arrearages of oats and potatoes due in subscriptions of farmers

The Democrats of Missouri have nominated B Gratz Brown for Governor The nomination was informal but it is understood that it will obtain the support of the party Mr Brown has always been a Republican and announces himself as a Republican still He favors the pending constitutional amendments to restore the elective franchise to those who participated in the rebellion

---

The people of Washington Territory decided in the late election not to adopt the proposition to call a Convention to form a State Government The majority against it was 134 A very sensible decision as the vote of the Territory is but a little over 6 000.

There is a good showing in the debt statement for July The reduction for June was over twenty millions or two thirds of a million a day Bad terribly bad for the croakers!

The Montreal Witness says that the report that the British expedition to the Red River country will be resisted by Riel is mere brag and bluster, that the Indians are all loyal, and also the English speaking settlers and English speaking half breeds and that when the troops get there every body will be loyal It says that the Red River rebellion if it ever had any strength, was virtually extinguished at Pigeon Hill and Trout River

The Guardians of Portland

And so that powerful [illegible] keep the [illegible] that road and operate and control the whole [illegible] system

[illegible] Mr Holladay [illegible] have allowed [illegible] enterprise that will [illegible] augment [illegible] business and power [illegible] they have virtually presented him the [illegible] pluck or [illegible] have contributed directly to place the interests of Oregon very largely under the control of one man Before the late election the Republican party was bitterly opposed by these capitalists (so-called) who [illegible] fight against it because as they alleged it was [illegible] the interests of Mr Holladay There never was a more [illegible] But what do they now [illegible] After all their [illegible] and fustian [illegible] gave it to Mr Holladay [illegible] start out [illegible] in a military wagon road and who then have an ambition to try to control a United States senator in their interest [illegible] and who next [illegible] disappoint [illegible] make a great clamor about the imperilled interests of the country and carry their few shares of wagon road stock into an election as a political issue But this is the extent of their enterprise They stop short at that and let the "monopolist" against whom they were professing to stand as a wall of defense for the people take everything!

Of the capitalists (so-called) who led the attack on the Republican party during the last week of the late political campaign [illegible] essayed to prove themselves the champions of the great industrial interests of the State [illegible] who were going to hold in check a gigantic monopoly that threatened to crush Oregon, our people now have the exact measure If Mr Holladay is the dangerous man they have represented him to be if the situation in this State was such as they described in circulars that were dispatched all over the State with their own names attached thereto before the election if it is true, as they declared that every vote for the Republican candidate was a vote that the Senator to be chosen by the next Legislature should represent not Oregon but Holladay if they represented the case truly when they made their organ here say that Oregon's influence at Washington was being used to promote the interests of one man (not a citizen of our State) to the disadvantage and ruin of all others who are citizens —if these things are so how can these capitalists (so-called) excuse themselves for standing back withholding their aid from the west side road and allowing the man whom they have caused to be characterized as so very dangerous to add that enterprise to his already powerful combinations? Is that the way they show their public spirit and perform their duty to the State? Mr Holladay now has everything They have given it up to him Professing to save the people of the west side counties from the machinations of a "monopolist" they have ended by allowing that "monopolist" to get hold of the very enterprise which they declared he was trying to throttle and crush

And this is the termination of the great fight which has been raging here for a couple of years, and which was at its hottest just before the late election! It is an ignoble fizzle on the part of the capitalists (so called) who incited it Such enterprise and spirit would shine conspicuously in the establishment of a pawn broker's business or a [illegible] stand Think what a figure these gentlemen will cut in appealing to the people in another election! The capitalists (so called) of Portland the guardians (self appointed) of the city may be bowed out and allowed to retire

The "Independent" on Dickens

The New York Independent gives voice to The General Sorrow and says of Dickens

What manner of man therefore must he have been? Of what fibre was his genius made? He was the John Bunyan of the secular world He was the unpriestly preacher to the wayside multitude rebuking them for their follies, vices and deceits His novels are little gospels of charity and good will to all mankind And great was his reward The common people heard him gladly! To win the world's ear is a nobler victory than to win a nation's throne He was a British subject whose empire was wider than a British sovereign's He knocked at the common heart of the Anglo Saxon race opened it like a gate entered it took possession and will not go hence even to the burial but will there remain affectionately enshrined for years to come

But it indignantly denies the comparison of Dickens with Shakspeare a [illegible] that is hardly necessary

The genius of Dickens was not lordly He was a king's jester [illegible] the light comedian of our literature Nor was he a creator so much as a delineator Does a portrait painter invent the faces that he paints? No more did Dickens invent the characters which he drew This is not said to his disparagement for it is only saying that he copied from life But his pencil took wild freaks with its liberty [illegible] If he found a character he made a caricature of it If he discovered a situation he made a travesty of it [illegible] style frivolous and tawdry [illegible] expression—all these criticisms may be justly urged against certain parts of his many [illegible] But who cares to pick these flaws in Dickens at any time and least of all in this hour of his funeral?

Nor do we emphasize the fact that though he lived in an age stirred by [illegible] problems in statesmanship [illegible] which [illegible] Shakspeare to have been a statesman [illegible] His mind was not [illegible] He was never quickened by that fine instinct for popular liberty which [illegible] ought to have made him a [illegible] and radical [illegible] He never tasted [illegible] the bitterness of espousing an unpopular cause

But let us do him no injustice We content ourselves with what he was [illegible] of his kind [illegible] friend of the friendless a champion of the poor the degraded the outcast the forlorn His career was a prolonged beneficence to his fellow beings It may be said of his books that they made a circumnavigation of charity

An Outspoken American Bishop in the Council at Rome —Writing on the 30th ult the Pall Mall Gazette says The day before yesterday a violent scene took place in the Council on the delivery of a speech by Monsignor Verot, Bishop of Savannah U S the orator of the American Episcopate This discourse pronounced in a voice audible through the hall vehemently assailed the dogma of infallibility declaring that all the Bishops who voted in its favor would be guilty of sacrilege The majority met this imputation with protesting cries and the clamor became so furious that the President [illegible] to ring his bell and called on the speaker to retract his expression Supported by Monsignor Strossmayer the Bishop of Savannah refused maintaining that he was entitled to express his conscientious opinion He said he was the citizen of a country where every opinion was free and that trained in freedom he would preserve his independence even in the Ecumenical Council Monsignor Senestrey Bishop of Ratisbon spoke with equal force but in more guarded language against the dogma affirming that he expressed the sentiments of the vast majority of German Catholics The sitting broke up in great agitation Several of the members of the minority have availed themselves of the new regulations to demand an immediate vote As there are yet seventy [illegible] inscribed to speak on the question the Cardinal Legates referred for instruction to the Pope and the Holy Father decided there should be no interference with the debate The Bishops of the minority [illegible] now acting in concert with the Ministers of the Catholic powers Conferences have been held both at the Austrian and French Embassies and it was finally arranged that the Bishops should sign a collective note to the Pope protesting against the promulgation of the dogma But [illegible] persuaded that all opposition will be useless

M. E. MISSIONARY CONCERT.—The monthly ... Sabbath School Missionary Concert was held yesterday afternoon, the following order of exercises being observed: Singing by the school; ..., Stephen Bird; Quartette, Messrs. FOURTH OF JULY THEATRICALS.—At 11 o'clock this morning, at Oro Fino Theater, the great burlesque of Lady of Lyons will be produced, with the same cast as heretofore. At half past 2 P. M. there will be another performance, the bill offered, Poor Pillicoddy, clog dance by Johnny Lenny, ballad by Miss Lizzie Ingles, and song and dance by Misses Annie and Minnie Pixley. Admission to each of the day performances, only fifty cents. In the evening at 8 o'clock, the burlesque of Alladin, Miss Annie Pixley in the title character.

At three o'clock the thermometer stood at one hundred degrees in the shade. About that hour there was some panting ..., if we remember rightly. Nothing but a ... breeze, which kindly volunteered its services for the occasion, kept things from just melting down. If we've got any stock in that kind of weather, we want to sell it, right away.

U. S. SURVEYING PARTY.—L. P. Beach of Olympia, W. T., goes up the Columbia river tomorrow morning, to complete some work under contract last year. Should the appropriation ... at an early day he will continue his work ... in the Palouse country, surveying that section of the country known as Union Flat. The west side people have now a prospect of getting a railroad at a date not very remote.

ANOTHER COMEDIAN COMING.—The Herald has information that Alf. Burnett, the great character delineator, now performing in San Francisco with ..., will shortly pay our city a professional visit.

ICE CREAM PARTY.—There will be an Ice Cream party at Moffett's Hall, on Front street, between Yamhill and Taylor, this evening, for the benefit of the Zion A. M. E. Church.

PLASTERERS AND CEMENTISTS.—We take pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of Huntington & Bellion, plasterers, etc. This firm did all the work on the Odd Fellows' Temple and remodeled the front of Capt. Ainsworth's building. They also have the contract to do the front of Carter's block which is to be finished immediately.

LABOR EXCHANGE FUND.—On Saturday, the committee appointed to solicit monthly subscriptions for the Labor Exchange, ran the list of subscriptions up to nearly $300. This amount, if reached, and we do not doubt that it will be, will render the Exchange independent and efficient.

CELEBRATION AT HOME.—The members of Multnomah Engine Company, with a number of invited guests, will meet at the engine house at 2 P. M. to-day, for a social time in honor of the national anniversary. A very sensible way considering the state of the weather.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW.—Nobody with any patriotism into 'em works to-day. We make no boast on that score, but there will be no paper issued to-morrow morning, from this office. We are all going to celebrate—and to see the fire-works.

CONTESTED ELECTION.—The rumors afloat that Ben. L. Norden would contest the election of C. W. Parish to the county clerkship, have finally taken definite shape. The usual notice was served Saturday evening on Mr. Parrish.

THE FIRE WORKS.—The place selected for the fire works this evening is the same as that used last year—corner of Eighth and Morrison streets.

CIRCUS.—Nelson's South American Hippodrome will arrive here and show five nights, commencing with Tuesday, the 12th inst.

STREET PARADE.—The Washington Guard will have a street parade to day, and a ball at their armory this evening.

POSTOFFICE HOURS.—Remember, the post-office will be open to day only from 7.30 to 8.30 A. M. and 4 to 5 P. M.

CURRENT NOTES.

A New Jersey paper is printing a moving tale, entitled "Kaspar, or the Cross Eyed Carpenter of Kalamazoo."

The Boston Times says: "The Massachusetts editors are to meet together and make an effort to treat each other civilly."

A sea Captain trading regularly to the coast of Africa was invited to meet a committee of a society for the evangelization of Africa. He was asked, among numerous questions touching the habits and religion of the African race, "Do the subjects of the King of Dahomey keep Sunday?" "Keep Sunday!" he replied, "yes, and everything they can lay their hands on."

The Louisville Commercial says that, as a general rule, the colored people of that city are steadily advancing. One year ago there were only 557 of them depositors in the savings bank. Now there are 1,230 depositors. The richest colored man in the city is worth $50,000 or $60,000, but there are many who, within a few years, have secured houses and lots that are now worth several thousand dollars each.

During the performance of the military drama, "Not Guilty," at Niblo's Garden, New York, on the evening of the 8th, an East India merchant became wild and excited at the battle scene between the Sepoys and English forces, and at last it was found necessary to put him out by force. He was taken to the station house, where he endeavored to beat his brains out. A straight-jacket was put on him, and as soon as he was quieted he was sent to Bellevue Hospital.

A celebrated divine, who was remarkable in the first period of his ministry for a boisterous mode of preaching, suddenly changed his whole manner in the pulpit, and adopted a mild and dispassionate mode of delivery. One of his brethren observing it, inquired of him what had induced him to make the change. He answered, "When I was young I thought it was the thunder that killed the people—but when I grew wiser, I discovered it was the lightning, so I determined in future to thunder less and lightning more."

The cholera has again broken out in Madras and Bombay, and at last accounts its ravages in those hot climates were terrible. The activity of this pestilence in any part of the world naturally excites some apprehensions of danger. In the great cholera years of 1832 and 1849 the cholera reached Europe by sailing vessels, and was brought to this country in the same way. Now, the means of communication are more direct and speedy. The cholera rages in some part of Asia all the time. But it has appeared with more than the usual fatality this year, and the presence of this scourge at ports with which there is so frequent communication, is a sufficient warning against all sanitary negligence.

A Child's Autobiography.

I read lately the charming autobiography of a little girl of eight years, written literally from her own dictation. Since Pet Marjorie I have seen no such actual self-revelation on the part of a child. In the course of her narration she describes, with great precision and correctness, the travels of the family through Europe in the preceding year, assigns mainly the place of importance to her doll, who appears simply as "My Baby." Nothing can be more grave, more accurate, more serious than the whole history, but nothing in it seems quite so real and alive as the doll. "When we got to Nice, I was sick. The next morning the doctor came, and he said I had something very much like scarlet fever. Then I had Annie take care of baby, and keep her away, for I was afraid she would get the fever. She used to cry to come to me but I knew it wouldn't be good for her."

What firm judgment is here, what tenderness without weakness, what discreet motherhood! When Christmas came, it appears that baby hung up her stocking with the rest. Her devoted parent had bought for her a slate, with a real pencil. Others provided thimble and scissors, and bodkin, and a spool of thread, and a traveling shawl with a strap, and a cap with tarlatan ruffles. "I found baby with the cap on early in the morning, and she was so pleased she almost jumped out of my arms." Thus, in the midst of visits to the Coliseum and St. Peter's, the drama of early affection goes always on. "I used to take her to hear the band, in the carriage, and she went everywhere I did."

But the love of all dolls, as of other pets, must end with a tragedy, and here it comes. "The next place we went to was Lucerne. There was a lovely lake there, but I had a very sad time. One day I thought I'd take baby down to breakfast, and, as I was going upstairs, my foot slipped and baby broke her head. And O, I felt so bad! and I cried out, and I ran up stairs to Annie, and mamma came and O, we were all so sorry! And mamma said she thought I could get another head, but I said, 'It won't be the same baby.' And mamma said, maybe we could make it seem so."

At this crisis the elder brother and sister departed for Mount Righi. "They were going to stay all night, and mamma and I stayed at home to take care of each other. I felt very bad about baby, and about their going, too. After they went, mamma and I thought we would go to the little town and see what we could find." After many difficulties, a waxen head was discovered. "Mamma bought it, and we took it home and put it on baby, but I said it wasn't like my real baby, only it was better than having no child at all."

This crushing bereavement, this reluctant acceptance of a child by adoption, to fill the vacant heart—how real and formidable is all this rehearsal of the tragedies of maturer years! I knew an instance in which the last impulse of ebbing life was such a gush of imaginary motherhood. A dear young friend of mine, whose sweet charities prolong into a third generation the unbounded benevolence of old Isaac Hooper, used to go at Christmas time with dolls and other gifts to the poor children on Randall's Island. Passing the bed of a little girl whom the physician pronounced to be unconscious and dying, the kind visitor insisted on putting a doll into her arms. Instantly the eyes of the little invalid opened, and she pressed the gift eagerly to her heart, murmuring over it and caressing it. The matron afterward wrote that the child died within two hours, wearing a happy face, and still clinging to her new-found treasure.

Laborers Wanted.

[From the San Francisco Scientific Press.]

While here in the city there is still complaint among the laboring class that they can obtain no work, there is likewise continues to be complaint in the interior that there is a scarcity of workmen.

San Francisco is a very good place, but it is not the only one on the coast, and we hold that it is much preferable to work hard and fare well in the country, than to have nothing to do but starve in the city. There is plenty of opportunity for the laborer at present, if he is willing to work. The harvest is commencing, and farm laborers are wanted. The mines are being worked and miners can find employment. But men will stick to the city when there is every reason for being somewhere else.

The working men generally of this city voted against the Southern Pacific Railroad subsidy, although probably not one in ten would have been willing to have left here, and to have gone to work on the road. And now they refuse to go to the country where they can have good fare and plenty of work. Their complaints are therefore apparently fictitious to a great extent. Very sensible advice is the following, given a young man taken from the Marysville Appeal: "He had better go into the foot-hills or on the plains back of the city, near what will eventually be a station of one of our railroads, get from fifteen to thirty acres of good land, then go to work, fence it, plow it up, put it in order, grow small fruits, currants, gooseberries, strawberries, grapes, blackberries, raspberries, get up a grand asparagus bed, raise chickens, pigs and turkeys, and stick to his business, have a cottage, and get a wife to help him, and he will come out all right, and make more money than some men with a thousand acres of land. Won't you, and others in like condition, think of this advice, and then put it into practice."

OUR CITIZENS certainly deserve credit, for the energy they display to make the Oregon Immigration and Labor Exchange a success and benefit to the State, as well as the immigrant coming to our State. Every citizen should give all the aid in their power to help the large number of strangers coming to our State, and not forget to inform them that Kohn & Fishel, No. 91 Front street, have the largest stock of clothing in Oregon; other goods are of superior quality and sold at extreme low prices.

Attention, Washington Guard!—You are hereby notified to assemble at your Armory on Monday morning, July 4th, at 7 o'clock, for Company Parade.

A Cross Husband.—Mrs. Smith.—The fact is, my husband is becoming so outrageously cross and nervous that there is no living with him. He pretends one day that he has got the dyspepsia; the next day liver complaint, the next is sick, with no appetite—declares that there is nothing on the table fit to eat, and so on. It is all nonsense, and nothing but his confounded ugliness. From the very bottom of my heart, I believe he wants to worry me to death.

Lady Friend.—Mrs. Smith, I think you are wrong. No woman has a kinder or more indulgent husband than you. I must confess that I have noticed a change in Mr. Smith, but am inclined to think that all he wants is a tonic; and if I were you, I would not be a day without PLANTATION BITTERS in the house. Make him take them moderately three times a day, and in a short time I think you will see a change. My experience is that PLANTATION BITTERS is one of the best and most delicious tonics in the world; and that for nervousness, loss of appetite, dyspepsia and all kindred complaints, there is nothing so good.

Sea Moss Farine from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

Three Requisites of Health.

If all the sickly people in the world were to take to their beds, and demand medical treatment, there would not be doctors enough to attend them, nor a sufficient number of the robust to nurse them. Three conditions are absolutely essential to health, viz.: a good appetite, easy digestion and the ability to sleep soundly. Seven-eighths of the many thousands who suffer from indisposition, yet do not labor under serious disease, complain that they "can't eat," that their stomachs are "out of order," or that they "don't sleep well." For this class of ailments few persons think of calling in a physician. Nor is it necessary, inasmuch as a course of Hostetter's Bitters, will certainly relieve the derangements of the stomach, the liver, and the nervous system, from which want of appetite, indigestion and sleeplessness arise. This excellent vegetable tonic and corrective is also a delightful anodyne. Insomnia (or incapacity to sleep) which has resisted all the ordinary remedies, will yield readily to this pleasant sedative taken just before retiring to rest. In ordinary medical practice it is usual to give a stomachic, an aperient, an invigorant, a soporific, or an antiseptic, as the case for the time being may seem more particularly to require; but in this grand restorative all these medicinal properties, and many others are blended in due proportion. Thus the digestion is stimulated, while the bowels are regulated, the liver toned, the strength recruited, the nerves calmed, the fluids purified and the circulation equalized. It is believed that there is no other restorative and regulating medicine in the world which acts so beneficially and agreeably upon all the assimilating and secretive organs at the same time, and to all who lack the three fundamental principles of health and enjoyment, a vigorous appetite, sound digestion and refreshing sleep, it is confidently recommended for a specific.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Farm for Sale.

320 ACRES OF LAND, IN JACKSON COUNTY, for sale or exchange for city property. It is in the suburbs of Gasburg. Gasburg, like the Leaves, is all "terminus." The branch of the Central Pacific Railroad will intersect the Oregon and California road at Gasburg. The Oregon Central will run through it, as does the stage road now, and many a railroad as yet unthought of, will find its "terminus" in Gasburg. The warm and dry winters, the mild Italian summers, the gushing spring water at short intervals, the lofty peaks of the Cascades in the east, the Coast Range on the west, the broad and fertile valleys on the north and south, and last, but not least, the inexhaustible forests on every hand, make it naturally one of the finest "termini" that ever was attached unto the "other end" of any railroad. Also a one third interest in a water-ditch and forty acres of mining lands, which have been worked for nine years and never failed to pay a dividend. Strawberries 5 cts per pound, ONE MULE at 20 cts per pound, and groceries in proportion.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

Responsibilities of the Stomach.—The stomach is the most wonderful of all manufactories. It converts the nutriments taken into it into materials of flesh and blood. As the body wastes, it re-creates its tissues, fibres and bones, renewing them, we are told, once in seven years. It performs this work by turning the food into the basis of the blood, which is the material of all of them. To tone this responsible organ when weak and disordered, to regulate its action and the action of its dependencies, the liver and the bowels, the most admirable of all medicines is TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT. It invigorates the digestion, controls the secretions and purifies the blood.

BOOTS AND SHOES, for sale by
H. W. CORBETT & CO.

The Late Benjamin Franklin.

[Never put off till to-morrow what you can do the day after to-morrow just as well.—B. F.

This party was one of those persons whom they call philosophers. He was born twins, being born simultaneously in two different houses in the City of Boston. These houses remain unto this day, and have signs upon them worded in accordance with the facts. The signs are considered well enough to have, though not necessary, because the inhabitants point out the two birth places to the stranger anyhow, and sometimes as often as several times in the same day. The subject of this memoir was of a vicious disposition, and early prostituted his talents to the invention of maxims and aphorisms calculated to inflict suffering upon the rising generation of all subsequent ages. His simplest acts, also, were contrived with a view to their being held up for the emulation of boys forever—boys who might otherwise have been happy. It was in this spirit he became the son of a soap-boiler; and, properly, for no other reason than the efforts of all future boys who tried to be anything might be looked upon with suspicion, unless they were the sons of soap-boilers. With a malevolence which is without parallel in history, he would work all day and then sit up nights and let on to be studying algebra by the light of a smouldering fire, so that all the boys might have to do that also, or else have Benjamin Franklin thrown upon them. Not satisfied with these proceedings, he had a fashion of living upon bread and water, and studying astronomy at mealtime—a thing which has brought affliction to millions of boys since, whose fathers had read Franklin's pernicious biography.

His maxims were full of animosity toward boys. Now-a-days a boy cannot follow out a single natural instinct without tumbling over some of those everlasting aphorisms, and hearing from Franklin on the spot. If he buys two cents' worth of pea-nuts, his father says, "Remember what Franklin has said, my son—'A groat a day is a penny a year;'" and the comfort is all gone out of those peanuts. If he wants to spin his top when he is done work, his father quotes, "Procrastination is the thief of time." If he does a virtuous action, he never gets anything for it, because "virtue is its own reward." And that boy is hounded to death, and robbed of his natural rest, because Franklin said once in one of his inspired flights of malignity,

"Early to bed and early to rise,
Make a man healthy and wealthy and wise."

As if it were any object to a boy to be healthy and wealthy and wise on such terms. The sorrow that that maxim has cost me through my parents experimenting me with it, tongue cannot tell. The legitimate result is my present state of general debility, indigence, and mental aberration. My parents used to have me up before 9 o'clock in the morning, sometimes, when I was a boy. If they had let me take my natural rest, where would I have been now? Keeping store, no doubt, and respected by all.

And what an adroit old adventurer the subject of this memoir was! In order to get a chance to fly his kite on Sunday, he used to hang a key on the string and let on to be fishing by lightning, and a guileless public would go home chirping about the "wisdom" and the "genius" of the hoary Sabbath-breaker. He invented a stove that would smoke your head off in five hours by the clock. * * * He was always proud of telling how he entered Philadelphia for the first time, with nothing in the world but two shillings in his pocket and four rolls of bread under his arm. But really when you come to examine it critically it was nothing. Anybody could have done it.

* * * * *

Benjamin Franklin did a great many notable thing for his country, and made her young name to be honored in many lands as the mother of such a son. It is not the idea of this memoir to ignore that or cover it up. No; the simple idea of it is to snub those pretentious maxims of his, which he worked up with a great show of originality out of truisms that had become wearisome platitudes as early as the dispersion from Babel; and also to snub his stove, and his military inspirations, his unseemly endeavor to make himself conspicuous when he entered Philadelphia, and his flying his kite and fooling away his time in all sorts of such ways, when he ought to have been foraging for soap-fat, or constructing candles. I merely desired to do away with somewhat of the prevalent calamitous idea among the heads of families that Franklin acquired his great genius by working for nothing, studying by moon-light, and getting up in the night instead of waiting till morning like a Christian, and that this programme, rigidly inflicted, will make a Franklin of every father's fool. It is time these gentlemen were finding out that these execrable eccentricities of instinct and conduct are only evidences of genius, not the creators of it. I wish I had been the father of my parents long enough to make them comprehend this truth, and thus prepared them to let their son have an easier time of it. When I was a child I had to boil soap, notwithstanding my father was wealthy, and I had to get up early and study geometry before breakfast, and peddle my own poetry and do everything just as Franklin did in the solemn hope that I would be a Franklin some day. And here I am.—Mark Twain, in the Galaxy for July.

In Pursuit of a Husband—Incidents in a New Orleans Court.

There are many phases of human life to be seen around the Recorders' Courts. The extremes of society meet there and shake hands with misery. There are pretty faces and ugly faces peeping from the parti-colored crowd, and youth and age are seen in all their disguises. Yesterday a somewhat matronly-looking personage appeared before the Magistrate as a prosecutor in a case of kidnapping. It appeared that her beautiful daughter, Kitty by name, had been endowed with too many good looks for the peace of mind of Jasper Wright. To make an interesting story brief, Kitty and Jasper loved not wisely but too well. As time elapsed, and weeks fled into months, the parent of the pretty Kitty, and who, by the way, is the prosecutor in question thought that this long course of wooing should have an end, and that it was time for Kitty and Jasper to get married. Kitty was all willingness and delight, but Jasper declined. He offered many reasons—a mass of impossibilities loomed suddenly up—he was willing to take care of Kitty, but shrank from encountering a priest. Indeed, Jasper's explanations were very indistinct and confused. In view of this, Kitty's paternal relative determined on revenge. She would have him arrested; but for what? He had committed no crime had simply declined getting married. A great many people do this with impunity. Nevertheless, arrested he must be, and on a venture, she took him for kidnapping. And now her explanation became a little confused.

"Madam, what do you want me to do?" inquired the Recorder.

"Marry them," was the indignant response.

"I cannot, the man refuses his consent."

"Well, make him."

"That I cannot do, he is a free agent."

"A what?" she inquired.

"A free agent," said the Recorder, proceeding to explain to the lady the necessity of mutual consent in all cases of marriage.

"But he ought to marry my Kitty," said the lady.

"That I do not doubt; but what is to be done in case he persists in refusing?" asked the Magistrate.

The lady looked around upon the crowd a little anxiously; she was evidently perplexed, but still determined. Suddenly a bright idea seemed to strike her; the clouds forsook her face in an instant, and turning to the Recorder, she said:

"Would your Honor like to marry her?"

"I can't say that I would," replied the blushing official.

"Don't be backward if you would," the lady hastily interposed, "because Kitty would as lief have you as the other fellow—he ain't much any way."

The Judge, to put an end to the controversy, said he was a married man, and dismissed the case.

A thoughtful person thus muses on the story of Daniel in the lions' den: "How sad it was for those poor lions, when Daniel was dropped into their den, to be compelled to go smiling about him, and think how nice a small chop from the calf of his leg would taste, and be denied the luxury. It was rough on them lions, but it taught them self-Daniel."

The Cotton Outlook

[From the New York Shipping List, June 15.]

At the commencement of the current cotton year, the most popular estimate of the yield was 2,750,000 bales, but later the receipts far exceeded general expectation, that the estimate was extended to 3,000,000, and now, owing to the remarkable lengthening out of supplies, three million may be said to be a minimum figure, attentive the more hazardous estimates varying from 3,100,000 to 3,250,000 bales. The result of this altered aspect of the supply has been a gradual weakening of the tone of the market, and a falling the price of nearly thirteen cents per pound since September, the thing being accompanied with it very little pecuniary embarrassment among those who frequently relied upon the earlier estimates and so hold of the loss from the fact that the currency dollar has appreciated during the same period to an equal extent. Taking the year through, it is worthy of note that the crop has realized a higher average gold price than the much smaller crop of the preceding year. As to the course of prices between now and the incoming of the next crop, in the Autumn, opinion is variant, though the majority incline to the belief that the lowest depth of depression has not yet been reached; and the fact that sales for delivery during the two months next succeeding are being made at fully one cent below current figures, would seem to give color to such belief. The weakness of tone, lately so conspicuous, has not alone resulted from the increased receipts at our ports, but to a very considerable extent from the statistical position of the article on the other side of the Atlantic, together with a promise of a material increase in the yield of the American crop. The stocks in the English and Continental markets are much above the corresponding period last year, while the supplies afloat for those markets are considerably less, but this latter feature excites no apprehensions of prospective scarcity, from the fact that the change in shipments of India Cotton from sails via the Cape to steam via Suez, will render available, during the Summer months, supplies that would not be due, under the old system of transportation, till the Autumn. And by the time shipments from Bombay begin to fall off materially, the new American crop will be available. There being, then, every probability of a liberal supply during the next four months, a reaction in prices would not seem at all probable, while the liberal rate of consumption in Europe is relied upon by many to obviate any further decided decline. Much, however, will depend upon weather contingencies, in connection with the growing crop. The accounts which have reached us thus far, are in the main favorable. All authorities agree in the opinion that an increased area has been devoted to the plant, and on the old and worn out lands of the Atlantic States, great efforts have been made to increase the yield through the liberal use of fertilizers and improved implements of husbandry. We hear of some drawbacks to the plant in those sections, but taking the whole Cotton regions into the account, the "stand" may be said to be fully equal to the average of seasons. On this point, the New Orleans Picayune of the 13th inst. remarks: "Crop advices are uniformly of the most encouraging character. Copious showers have fallen of late over the whole Cotton belt, and the fields being well worked during the dry spell, and free from weeds, Cotton is growing very rapidly. The plant is generally represented as small for this season of the year, and the indications are that the bolls will not form until very late."

Already, we observe, it is freely predicted that the growing crop will, without serious drawbacks, reach three and a half million of bales, and while all speculations as to results at this stage of the season are practically worthless, yet it cannot be doubted that the state of feeling thus indicated has some bearing upon the market.

Curiosities of Breathing.—The taller men are, other things being equal, the more lungs they have, and the greater number of cubic inches of air they can take in or deliver at a single breath. It is thought that man's lungs are sound and well developed in proportion to his girth around the chest, yet observation shows that slim men as a rule will run faster and farther, with less fatigue, having more wind than stout men. If two persons are taken in all respects, except that one measures twelve inches more around the chest than the other, the one having the excess will not deliver more air at one full breath by mathematical measurement than the other.

The more air a man receives into his lungs in ordinary breathing, the more healthy he is likely to be; because an important object in breathing is to remove impurities from the blood. Each breath is drawn pure into the lungs; on its outgoing the next instant, it is so impure, so perfectly destitute of nourishment, that, if rebreathed without any admixture of pure atmosphere, the man would die. Hence, one of the conditions necessary to secure a high state of health is, that the rooms in which we sleep should be constantly receiving new supplies of fresh air through open doors, windows or fire-places.

If a person's lungs are not well developed, the health will be imperfect, but the development may be increased several inches in a few months by daily out-door runnings with the mouth closed, beginning with twenty yards and back, at a time, increasing ten yards every week until a hundred are gone over thrice a day. A substitute for ladies and persons in cities is running up stairs with the mouth closed, which compels very deep inspirations, in a natural way, at the end of the journey.

As consumptive people are declining, each week is a witness to their inability to deliver as much air at a single out-breathing as the week before; hence the best way to keep the fell disease at bay is to maintain lung development. It is known that in large towns, ten thousand feet above the level of the sea, the deaths by consumption are ten times less than in places nearly on a level of the sea. Twenty-five persons die of consumption in the city of New York where only two die of that disease in the city of Mexico. All know that consumption does not prevail in hilly countries and in high situations. One reason of this is, because there is more ascending exercise, increasing deep breathing; besides, the air being more rarified, larger quantities are instinctively taken into the lungs to answer the requirements of system, thus at every breath keeping up a high development. Hence the hills should be sought by consumptives, and not low, flat situations.

The Privilege of "Proposing."—The London Spectator thus closes a review of Epes Sargent's Woman Who Dared—the woman who dared to "propose" to the man she loved:

"It is strange that this demand comes from the United States, from the very place where the courteous deference to women, with which it is obviously incompatible, is practiced to even an excessive degree. Or do the American ladies think that they can retain the old privileges, and also secure the new? Will they, for instance, still be able to indicate to a man by a touch of the parasol that he must vacate some seat they may fancy, while they have every power and right for which these concessions of courtesy are really meant as an equivalent? Why, the parasol would become the awful instrument with which they would order off the unresisting man to the church, or wherever else their advanced wisdom might choose the ceremony, if indeed they still cared for a ceremony to take place? It is quite clear, indeed, that the whole order of our social arrangement must be remodeled before the privileges of "proposing" at her pleasure can be accorded to women. At present, the woman who chooses to do such a thing uses an enormous and most unfair advantage which our customs give her, on the implied understanding that it should not be so employed. The rules of courtesy which make her requests law must be altogether abrogated in view of this new contingency. There must be no precedence, no deference, nothing but the courtesy that is accorded by equals to equals. And there must also be the equal purse on both sides. A man proposes because he can offer an establishment and a maintenance; a woman who can do the same is allowed to do something very like proposing. But that woman should propose to share that which they do not help to earn is a thing which, if men would endure it they could hardly venture. Such a state of things may come to pass. Happy he who can congratulate himself that his matrimonial arrangements are made already, and who will find in the possibility of such an event a new motive for hoping that they may be permanent."

"Paddle your own canoe," or what Rev. Mr. Ware, of Baltimore considers its equivalent,—In every good work trust thy own soul. It has been made the subject of a sermon, and a very manly, vanity-deploring sermon it seems to have been, full of such precepts against social cowardice as these following: "We are afraid to trust to ourselves. One man has the l[illegible], and he finds every one about him has. We are poltroons, all of us. We come to wear one cut of face and figure, and acquire by degrees the gentlest genuine expression. Insist upon yourself. Never imitate. The poorest originality is better than the best copying. That is what nature, that is human. This is self-relying. This is being earnest. This is carrying yourself." Paddle your own canoe.

Ohio Democrats by resolution condemn the income tax, while the Representatives of Democracy in Congress vote against its reduction. This exhibits the usual consistency between the words and the acts of the party.

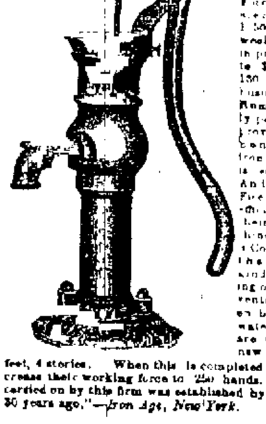
Seneca Falls, New York,
THE LARGEST
Pump Manufactory
IN THE WORLD.



"The Catalogue of RUMSEY & CO., of Seneca Falls, embraces over 200 different styles and sizes of Lift and Force Pumps. They are now turning out 1,500 Pumps per week, which range in price from $1 to to $500, employing 150 hands in the business. John A. Rumsey has recently patented an improved galvanized Non-Corrosive Air Iron Pump, which is only 6/m cast. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency, is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey & Co's Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of their own invention and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory, 84x42 feet, 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 30 years ago."—Iron Age, New York.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are dragging out a miserable existence from the effects of early indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces, and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he has cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dope the unwary. Some of these self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, an eye will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus letters or certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultation FREE.

Your correspondence will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
